

A new generation of Baycrest supporters

Hi! My name is Rachel!

I am a grade 4 student at Allenby Public School. I was assigned a project to teach my class about a charity that is special to me. I chose your charity because two of my great-grandparents who I love a lot have been to Baycrest and got taken care of really well. For my fundraiser I did a dancing activity because Baycrest did a dancing with our stars for a fundraiser. Baycrest rocks!

My name is Jacob Goldstein.

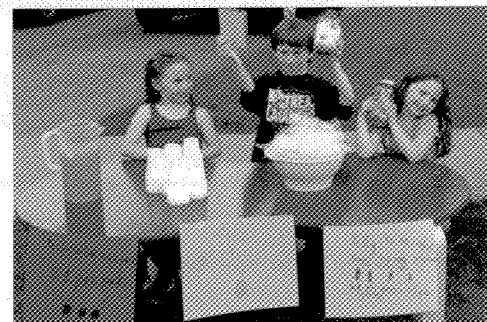

I am a grade 5 student at Leo Baeck Day School. I was assigned to do a project on a charity that touched my heart. I chose your charity because my grandfather lived there and my grandmother has been there since 2004. I think that your charity is a spectacular cause and I love how you devote all your time to people like my grandparents.

Lemonade stand provides lesson in philanthropy

In June, five-year-old twins Carly and Samantha Merbaum came up with the idea to set up a lemonade stand in front of their house. Big brother, Benjamin, age 7, thought the proceeds should go to Baycrest. "He wasn't really sure what Baycrest was, but we went on the website and read about the services that Baycrest provides to the elderly," explains their mother, Allyson. "Even I was surprised by all the learning opportunities of a lemonade stand!"

With this issue of Attach Your Name to Baycrest, we're introducing an updated design and more stories on the powerful impact of donor gifts on people's lives. We welcome your comments.
